The Community Foundation for Crawford County Encourages Local Students to Apply for Scholarships Online

Crawford County: The Community Foundation for Crawford County wants to remind local students that its college scholarship applications for the 2017-2018 school year are available at their website: www.cfccrawford.org.

There are 24 different scholarships available for application at the Foundation's website, as well as two offered by the Bucyrus Rotary Club. Each scholarship includes its own unique set of requirements. New to the website this year is a Full Scholarship Requirements List to help students more quickly identify which scholarships for which they are eligible before applying. In addition, nine of the scholarships permit non-traditional students to apply, meaning students who have been out of high school for one year or more, students entering their 2nd, 3rd or 4th year of college, or students in graduate school. Students planning to attend an accredited trade school are also eligible to apply for many of the available scholarships. Application deadline is April 2.

The Community Foundation for Crawford County is a permanent, tax-exempt, public charitable foundation established to improve the quality of life for the citizens of Crawford County. Started with the help of The Timken Foundation in 1984, it is a vehicle by which individuals, groups, and corporations may channel contributions to the community. The CF4CC awards grants, helps donors, provides leadership, manages our investments, and sponsors special projects.
